BARBARA MÜLLER

ART & JEWELRY

Original design, created by many hands through traditional bench goldsmithing. Production is carried out on a small scale, prioritizing manual labor and local artisans. The processes are entirely artisanal, involving wood carvings and the combination of recycled materials with precious metals.

Brand created by Brazilian artist and jewelry designer Barbara Müller, based in the Amazon, in Belém, Pará. She holds a degree in Product Design from UEPA - State University of Pará. The designer has worked on projects for Brazilian brands such as Mara Mac and Martu, as well as consulting related to Amazonian culture for Farm, Grendene, Natura, and SPFW.

Her work is strongly influenced by the nature and culture of the northern region of Brazil, where she was born and lives. In this area, she also conducts consulting projects with traditional communities, having worked with riverside communities, quilombolas, and indigenous communities. The premise is that the product be a strong element of resistance, recovery, and maintenance of Brazilian culture. It's common to see collections featuring waste predominantly from northern Brazil, which acquire new values and meanings through the mixing of elements such as fruit peels, wood waste, buffalo horn with precious metals and Brazilian stones.

He has participated in national and international exhibitions, such as "Arte Brasílis" in Rome. One piece is part of the personal collection of the Di Casalmaggiore Museum in Rome and has received an award in Milan.

D O T Z

HANDMADE IN BRAZIL

EST. 2017

Dotz wants to inspire a different way of doing business; an alternative system that promotes a balance between quality, sustainability and society.

It all starts with a handmade, innovative production method. The brand is always on the lookout for ways to make our products superior not only by design, but by component; starting from where our materials are sourced, to how they're put together. Their process is based on our belief that collaboration is a driving force for innovation.

Ultimately, the power for enacting this paradigm shift lies in the hand of the consumer. Every purchase is a choice. Make your voice heard.

GABRIELA fiuza

Our journey in fashion began as a dream during our Fashion Design degree, where the discipline of Slow Fashion inspired us to explore a new path. Born from the vision of filling a gap in Fortaleza's fashion scene, Gabriela Fiuza was founded in 2016, bringing an innovative slow fashion proposal rooted in sustainability, care, and authenticity.

Since then, our brand has been a pioneer of Slow Fashion in the city, driving a conscious and collaborative approach to fashion. Drawing from emotional memories and personal experiences, each piece is designed to reflect not only a style but also a unique and meaningful narrative.

JEANS DO BEM

FRIENDLY JEANS

Jeans do Bem was born as a social initiative by the Levvo Group, with a concept 100% focused on repurposed denim and allocating all proceeds to social projects. Now, the brand has evolved into a new phase, with a renewed identity and an exclusive proposal, positioning itself within the luxury market.

While preserving its sustainable DNA, the brand continues to upcycle old denim, but now also incorporates carefully selected factory fabrics certified by the Better Cotton Initiative and Responsible Brazilian Cotton. With advanced washing technologies, it creates a balanced mix of environmental responsibility and sophistication.

LIQUIDO

In 2001, a family opened a small clothing workshop in the Brás region of São Paulo, dedicated to producing swimwear and fitness pieces.

The small workshop began to find its place in the sun and flourish.

By 2004, already under the name LÍQUIDO, the brand opened its first own store, achieving remarkable results that would attract more and more admirers from around the world and the fashion market in general.

Following the success of its swimwear and fitness lines, the LÍQUIDO Family embraced a new challenge: expanding its production to include a casual fashion line, as well as investing in children's collections.
